About The CONFERENCE

The contribution of sports in nation building is evident in various international competitions. If we look at the Olympic Games of the last 100 years, we will see that the countries where these competitions are organized have a strong economic side. Also, the countries where sports culture is developed, the name of that country appears at the top of the medal table. Overall, we can see that sports culture and the economic status of the country are two sides of the same coin. Sports culture not only leads to economic development but also increases trade and employment, enhances cultural development, improves social relations and keeps the young generation away from addictions. Youth empowerment and skill development, providing career opportunities and pathways through sports. Sports reduce the involvement of youth in crime or drug abuse. Sports promote physical fitness and mental health. Implementing sports programs in schools and colleges leads to the all-round development of students.

Sports competitions provide the whole world with a common platform, where there is no barrier due to religion, caste, creed, colour and dress. There is an exchange of ideas and culture at the international level. Provides a platform to showcase cultural heritage. Sports are used to foster national pride and unity. Multinational competitions are organized as a political tool. Overall, when we consider all the above aspects, we see that the development of the country occurs due to the implementation of sports culture. To clarify and discuss all these things, it is proposed to organize a one-day National Multi-disciplinary Conference on this topic.

This conference will be organised in offline mode, participants are requested to register their names through the google form, we are also inviting research paper for publication and also inviting papers for presentation during the Conference.
